I am very blessed to be surrounded by angels

How do I ever begin to thank you for all your support, love, prayers, food, phone calls, and gifts.

I am so grateful to you more than I can express.

Words cannot describe how much you all mean to me.

It is the people in our lives who make things special.

I am doing well, with the chemo at this time, one day at a time.

I would never have made it this far without all of you.

Thank you to my family, my friends, my church, and God along with the power of prayer.

SOUTH SENECA STORY

In between the time I wrote last week's update and the date of publication, we received the new guidance on graduations this year, and it's good news. For a school South Seneca's size, it seems very reasonable that we will be able to host a full ceremony as planned, with no restriction on the number of guests per graduate—but there are stipulations in the guidance.

In order to make this happen, we will be using our track facility in Ovid as the venue, with guests socially distanced by household in the bleachers. This means, like last year, we'll need to pay close attention to the weather, since we won't have any ability to move indoors in case of rain. We will be hoping to do the ceremony at the planned time, but might need to flex the starting time to take advantage of the best rain-free window of opportunity during graduation weekend.

The guidance mandates that every person in attendance, graduate or guest or staff member, must be able to prove either full vaccination status for COVID-19, or produce a negative COVID test result on a sample taken within 72 hours of the ceremony. The only exception would be someone who has recovered from a confirmed case of COVID-19 within 90 days of the ceremony (and is symptom-free on graduation day).

For someone who is not fully vaccinated by that week (meaning two weeks past receiving the final dose), this is a tight timeline to be tested, so it's important everyone knows that now. The acceptable test is a PCR test which must be administered within the three day time frame, so that person needs to get the test AND have a negative result in the few days leading up to the ceremony. The rapid (antigen) tests are only acceptable within six hours of the ceremony, but the school will only be able to do those for the graduates themselves, not the guests.

From the district's standpoint, the best strategy for anyone planning to attend graduation is to get vaccinated. It will take away any uncertainty leading up to the big day, and will make sure there are no unpleasant surprises that could happen with delays for results or an unexpected positive reading on the test itself.

All the other pieces of the guidance are easily managed, and we are excited that graduation can be mostly back to what we are used to. It will be a great culmination to a difficult school year.

PETS

TICKS!!! FOR THE SAKE OF YOUR PET’S HEALTH, AND OUR HUMAN HEALTH: IT’S IMPORTANT TO PAY ATTENTION TO THESE CRITTERS AND NOT FREAK OUT!!!

Dear readers, even though we’ve talked about ticks many times before, I feel it is necessary once again to go over this stuff for three reasons. First (and most important), at least in our little area of the world here in central New York State, the business of ticks has now officially become life or death serious for both our pets and ourselves. Secondly, it seems as if a lot of people either still don’t know, or are simply just not paying attention to the proper way of dealing with these critters. I humbly (and with head bowed in a gesture of great respect) bring this bring this point up because in the past when people did silly or folksy or downright stupid stuff in their quests to remove ticks from their pets (or themselves), it was sort of funny; NOW, however, with the certain establishment of lyme disease into our area, these wrong methods of dealing with these repulsive critters can lead to serious life threatening consequences. And finally, in these dark and troubled times of high unemployment, financial distress, government ineptitude, cholera in Haiti, child-soldiers in the Congo, and the human carnage in Darfur, it pains me to see people worry so much and to LITERALLY!!! freak out over these critters when just a little bit of level-headed thought would ease their pain.

And that’s why I keep on trying to get this important stuff across. It seems that for every intact and living tick that a client brings in for me to remove from their cat or dog, there are another five pets brought in with the tick dead, mangled, or decapitated for me to dig it out. (Ticks, by definition, don’t have heads; they have a capitulum.) I’ve seen ticks slathered with nail polish as well as coated with nail polish remover. I’ve seen ticks with their rear-ends barbecued to well-done by a cigarette, and still others that have had their butts blown-up by a burning match. I’ve seen them doused with mineral oil, olive oil, balsamic vinegar, kerosene, rubbing alcohol, vodka, flea spray, Tabasco sauce, gasoline, and yes, I’ve even seen them gobbed-up with my dastardly old friend, udder balm.

I can hear the talk out there now. “Ah, come on, Doc! Quit pickin’ on us. We only did what we thought was best. Our mother-in-law/neighbor/website/guru/cousin from Arkansas all told us their method would work every single time.” Most-treasured readers, I don’t say this stuff to pick on you or to make fun of you, I do it because all of the methods I mentioned above are wrong. And its important to KNOW why these techniques are wrong.

By killing the tick violently with any of the above mentioned techniques, you cause them to clamp shut their mouth parts. This clenching-down reflex is the biggest reason a tick will leave it’s ‘head’ in our pet. But more importantly, is that as the tick wiggles and writhes in its death throes because of whatever junk you applied to it, the poor little beast will expel whatever blood it has in it’s guts directly into the dog or cat. Unfortunately for your pet, along with this regurgitated blood will come whatever disease organism the tick may be carrying.

I can hear it out there now: “So Doc, what is the proper way to remove a tick? My favorite way is to part the pet’s hair away as best as possible, and then grasp the tick between my thumb and forefinger as close to the point of attachment of the tick as possible, and then gently pull it straight out backwards. Unless it’s a mentally-deprived tick, it will let go. A rubber or exam glove should be worn. The Centers For Disease Control says to use tweezers, but I don’t think you can control your grip as well on these guys. There is also a new invention out there called a Tick Twister that seems to work good as well. I sell this device in my office and have created an award-winning video on how to use it: <http://www.squidoo.com/RemovingTicks>.
