STUFF YOU DIDN'T KNOW ABOUT FEBRUARY AND A TOUCH OF IRONY: DENTAL HEALTH MONTH IN OUR DOGS AND CATS

Before I begin my story of dental disease in dogs and cats, my thanks for all of the compliments and words of support regarding my last humble article. The pen is mightier than the sword; from now until our sun burns out and our world as we know it ceases to be, the whole of my tri-county readership now knows what a presumptive tyrant that sad person was!

The old poet T.S. Eliot in his epic poem The Waste Land said that "April is the cruellest month" (he then went on and on and on saying something else about lilacs and the dead land and mixing memory etc.) If you ever had to read and interpret this poem in a college English literature class, it really is quite bizarre stuff—and quite wonderful as well. My personal opinion, however, is that Mr. Eliot was wrong about April being the cruellest month; I think February is.

Even though February is the shortest month, it seems to just drag on and on, teasing us poor northern mortals with little snippets of warmth and of the upcoming springtime, only to then bludgeon us all over again with cold so darn cold that it chills you to your very bones. To me, February is sort of like having a month-long tooth ache, but being on vacation in Antarctica and not being able to see a dentist. (I will forever be grateful to my buddy, Dr. R., for once counseling me over the phone once while I was suffering in St. Lucia with the worst toothache in my life.)

And therein lies the irony. In doing some supplemental research for this article on dental disease in our pets, I came across a tidbit of information whose coincidence simply astounded me. I knew already that February was Pet Dental Health Month because of an advertising blitz being sponsored by the American Veterinary Medical Society. But what I didn't know was that today, February 9, as I write this very article on dental health in our dogs and cats, is also the National Toothache Day as well! Wow! (As you can see, it doesn't take much to bemuse me.)

I can hear it out there now: "OK, Doc, speaking of the Waste Land, quit wasting our time and tell us about our dog and cat's teeth!" Gentle readers, in my vet office just outside my waiting room door, is a picture of one of the ugliest English bulldogs one could ever imagine. Underneath the picture of his ugly mug is the caption: "His Breath Could Stop A Train! And his heart and liver and kidneys as well!"

In my experience, bad or rotten teeth is something most pet owners pay little or no attention to. And that's sort of OK when put into context of the much broader worldly problems we all have to contend with on a daily basis: the poor economy, the price of gas and healthcare, the apathy of our politicians, gang violence, genocides in the Rwanda and the Congo, cancer, etc. But as insignificant as it may seem to some, it is none the less important if you want to insure the well-being of your pet.

For two big reasons. If you think about yourself and the last time you had a cavity, an abscessed tooth or severe gingivitis, what was it that alerted you to the problem? For most people it would have been the dull relentless throbbing of excruciating pain. And so if you think about it, why would it be any different in our dogs and cats. They may not overtly show it, but they hurt as well. Secondly, like the poster outside my exam room says, it can also lead to heart failure and kidney/liver disease. The nasty bacteria that inhabit the pus and abscesses in the bad teeth often will get into their (and our's) bloodstream. These microbes have a strong love mostly for the valves of the animal's heart; this in turn leads to a disease with the tongue-twisting name of vegetative endocarditis. When you look at these poor guy's hearts at autopsy, it looks like chunks of cauliflower are growing on their heart valves.

And so how do you know if your pet's teeth are bad? Most of the time it is fairly obvious. The poor critter's breath is so bad it will run you out of the room. The most reliable way, however is to let me during the course of a normal exam have a look. (Unless your dog or cat is of the gentle temperament, I don't recommend the owner to fool around with their mouths.)

If we determine the pet has a serious enough problem, then we schedule the dentistry visit. This always requires anesthesia because no self-respecting dog or cat is going to let me into their mouths with dental instruments. And I'm outta room.

Postscript: Did you know that February is also American Heart Month, Canned Food Month, Creative Romance Month, Great American Pie Month, National Cherry Month, National Children's Dental Health Month, National Grapefruit Month, and National Weddings Month. (Reprinted - 2010)

Obituary

ANN ELIZABETH GELL, age 69, of Trumansburg, NY passed away peacefully with her daughters beside her on June 13, 2021.

Ann was born on December 4, 1951 in Syracuse, NY a daughter of Thomas and Ethel (Seeley) Gell. After graduating from Charles O Dickerson High School, Ann followed many paths. In her lifetime she was a homemaker, real estate agent, and owner-operator of her greenhouse business. After attending TC3 she proudly earned an Associates Degree and worked at the Women's Opportunity Center in Ithaca. She believed strongly in the fellowship of recovery and shared her experience and wisdom with others.

On any given day Ann was armed with a joke and a laugh. She found humor in life, no matter how hard. A longtime member of the Trumansburg United Methodist Church, teaching Sunday school, enjoying coffee hour, and attending sunrise services with her family brought her great peace.

Ann had many gifts to share. She spent her best days beside her pond with her daughters and grandchildren. She cherished gardening, bird watching, and enjoying the wildlife around her home. She instilled her love of flowers, cooking, music, sewing and art to all those around her. Ann lived her life on her own terms. Her fierce independence and strong spirit will be remembered by all that knew and loved her.

Ann is survived by her children Ami Melendez and Dorothy Jack; her father, Thomas Gell; grandchildren; Morgan and Colin McLoud, Juliet Melendez, Alyssa Minges, Adrianna, Skyler and Allen Aho; her siblings, David, James (Cathy), Richard (Karen) Gell, Susan and Linda Gell. Ann was predeceased by her mother Ethel Gell in 2019.

A private celebration of life will be held for immediate family.

The family asks those who would like to make a contribution in Ann's memory to kindly consider the Women's Opportunity Center, 315 North Tioga Street, Ithaca, NY 14850.

FIREWORKS ARE BACK

After taking a year off for the pandemic, the Watkins Glen Area Chamber of Commerce is pleased to present the traditional July 4 fireworks show with media partner Seven Mountains Radio. The display is expected to begin at approximately 9:45 p.m. on July 4, 2021. We expect prime viewing locations will be at Clute Park and locations on or around the southern tip of Seneca Lake. The pyrotechnics display will be presented by Young Explosives.

“We are thrilled to be able to present the fireworks this year,” said Watkins Glen Area Chamber of Commerce Executive Director Michael Hardy. “These celebrations have historical significance with roots tied to our nation’s formal independence. We’re ready to pay tribute to our history and enjoy an amazing presentation from Young Explosives.”

ERVAN WILLIAM KLINE JR., born May 31, 1958 in Rochester, NY to the late Ervan W. and Shirley Ann Kline Sr., passed away June 10th 2021 at the age of 63.

Ervan attended St Francis, Border City and Waterloo High School. Ervan was a bus driver for the Geneva School District for 20 years, and everyone knew that when they saw the picture of Foghorn Leghorn on the side of the bus that was Ervan's bus, he loved being a bus driver and loved the kids.

He bowled, golfed, and played fantasy football but loved to play poker, his phone was ringing all the time to let him know where the next game was.

Ervan will be sadly and forever missed by his golfing, fantasy football and poker buddies, but most of all his family. He is survived by his daughter, Galena Raven Kline and son, Mario Torres; his siblings, Stephanie Kline Wixson, Jack (Patty) Kline, Shirley (Jim) Hanson, Jeffrey (Jodie) Kline and all of his nieces and nephews.

"Save us a seat at the poker table Erv, there's no other table we'd rather be at with your daughter Galena right by your side," RIP Brother

There will be a Celebration of life for Ervan on July 10th at 2154 Welch Road Geneva NY, for family and friends starting at 11 am. Please plan to enjoy food, refreshments and Poker to follow. For more information call Jeff (315-835-5205) In lieu of flowers donations can be made to the National Kidney Foundation; www.kidney.org in Ervan's memory. Covert Funeral Home of Ovid has assisted the family with arrangements.

SOUTH SENECA STORY

By the time you are reading this, our secondary students in grades 7-12 will have completed their classes for this school year, and elementary students will be one week away from the same. These last fifteen months have been unlike any of us are likely to ever see again, and we hope to be putting most of that behind us as we look forward to a much needed summer break for everyone.

More than half the population now has at least one vaccine dose, and we expect that conditions for opening back up in September will be much closer to what the pre-pandemic years used to look like. Time will tell.

Reflecting back, though, it is fair to say that we have all come to appreciate the social aspect of our schools much more than we might even have thought we would. Just being able to hold a class meeting, an open house event, or a community basketball game will feel all the more special when they are all back in the schedule.

One of our tasks over the summer months will be to revisit all our protocols, from masks to distancing to screeners, and everything in between. We will definitely be changing most of these heading into next year, and for at least some of them, we might need to wait for later in the summer to better understand how both the state and the county health departments will advise us to proceed.

We do plan to continue delivering meals this summer in place of the more traditional pick-up model. Staff at school will be reaching out to families who have received meals in the past to see if they would like them to continue, and for those who have a new need, please make sure we know, and it can be added to our delivery lists.

We've decided for now to continue with the traditional way we offer any summer school to students—namely, we will coordinate with the regional offerings through TST BOCES. For students looking to recover credit in July and August, or to seek some new credits, the opportunity will be there.

Most of all, we hope to take the summer time to reset our programs, to get some rest from the stress of a long period of hybrid teaching and learning, and to enjoy as much of a general reopening as we can in the glorious Finger Lakes this time of year. Happy June everyone!
